Subject: Solar Titan's use of SEIA logo

Hi Amir,

I was just perusing the Solar Titan website and noticed they have removed the SEIA logo. Did y'all send them a cease and desist or is that something they did on their own? If y'all did send them a cease and desist, would you mind providing me with a copy of that letter?

Best,
Sam

That is great. I will send out the calendar invitation.

Solar Titan is Ideal Horizon Benefits, LLC's assumed name according to the TN SOS, so you may also want to look for Ideal Horizon Benefits. It's also possible that Solar Titan never applied for membership with the SEIA, though.

10am tomorrow on Teams works well.

I don't see any record of them in Salesforce much less ever being a member of SEIA. I'll dig a bit more through our records in case Solar Titan changed their name.

The company is Solar Titan USA.

It sounds like 10:00 am ET tomorrow works for you then? I can send a teams calendar invitation if you have no issues with using teams.

Good Afternoon Mr. Yazdi,

Thank you for taking the time to present about the SEIA to NAAG last week. During the presentation, you mentioned that you might be willing to talk to some offices about concerns with specific solar companies and any prior membership history that the company may have had with the SEIA. Are you available sometime in the next week or so to have a call regarding one of the companies we have received complaints about in the past year? The company has on its website that it is partnered with the SEIA, but it does not show up as a member on the SEIA membership directory.

I have cc'd my co-counsel, Samuel Keen, who has been working with me on this matter. Please reply all so that if he wants to participate in the discussion, he can provide his availability.
